when George Washington Carver was 10, he walked 8 mi from Mr. Carver's farm to school in NE OSHO.

First night he slept in a farm. While he was sitting on a wood pile wondering where his next meal would come from, Mariah Watkins & her husband took George into their home. He worked hard. He helped Mariah with the laundry that she did for others. Meanwhile he was going to school & he learned fast. Soon he knew as much as the school teacher.

A family George knew was going to Fort Scott, Nebraska, so he went with them. He would work a few months, then go to school a few months.

For several yrs he lived in Minneapolis, Kansas with a kind Negro couple, Christopher & Lucy Seymour. He stayed there till he graduated from high school. When he was nearly 30 yrs old he heard about Simpson College.
